County's driest May
in only 42 of an inch of rainfall recorded last month was the driest May in the 41 years that the U. S. weather observation station has been established at Salem, Lawrence Copeland, official weather observer, said today.

The average rainfall for May,
the driest in weather records as nor-

90 In Salem
The temperature in Salem reached a maximum of 90 at noon today in readings at the weather disposal plant.

A year ago today the maximum temperature was 64. The reading today also represented a jump of 28 degrees in 24 hours.

The temperature was 62 at midnight. At 6
today it was 65.

At a "wet month", is 3.21 inches.
The least previous rainfall for the period, in May, 1911, was .68
inch.

Copeland is authority for the statement that the current drought is "unprecedented" in the history. There has been less than an inch of rainfall since 1917, a period which, in normal years, would see a precipitation of more than five inches.

All through the county farmers are mourning because of damage to crops, particularly wheat and clover.
The situation has been seriously aggravated by the extreme heat of recent days; the warm sunshine and high temperatures have dried the ground to crack open in places and dry out faster than ever.
Wheat, oats, potatoes and other crops now are in only "fair" condition, but, according to Copeland, the loss will suffer greatly unless rain comes. Farmers are silent about the situation and are waiting for rain to send down a shower of rain.

FLEET ANCHORED
IN N. Y. HARBOR

Nation's Mighty Men-of-War In Gotham For 18-Day Stay

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, June 1.—Steaming into New York harbor behind the flagship of its smiling commander-in-chief, Franklin D. Roosevelt, the navy was anchored today for an 18-
day stay.

The fleet was in for the first time since 1918, bringing 35,000 bluejackets, their spirits high in anticipation of their lone holiday amid the bright lights of Manhattan and their pockets jingling at least $1-000,000 for spending. Wednesday was their pay day.

The nation's mighty men-of-war,
on dress parade, swung into the harbor last night after passing in proud review before President Roosevelt. Cheering crowds jammed the waterfront and all available points of vantage to see the big grey fleet come in.

The colorful sea show, delayed two hours by fog, took place just outside the bay, hidden by a thick haze from the sight of landlubbers.
The immense throngs waited patiently, however, and sent up a tremendous cheer when the President's ship, the cruiser Indianapolis, steamed into view.

With guns booming and bands playing, the battle fleet—96 ships in all—passed majestically before the sea-loving President, as he stood on the communication deck of the Indianapolis, anchored a mile off Ambrose lightship.

Sebring Selling
Stock For Pottery

SEBRING, June 1.—Sebring
business men are waging a stock-selling campaign in an effort to raise $35,000 to aid in the proposed reopening of the French-Saxon Pottery company plant.

The campaign was launched at a rally of business leaders at which it was explained that officials of the plant have requested Sebring interests to assist in the sale of the stock. Outside capitalists, it was said, have promised $85,000 towards the plant's operation.

W. V. Oliver, incorporator of the concern, who spoke at the meeting, promised that the plant will "open in a short time" if business men succeed in raising the $35,000.

Five Men Dressed as Lab-

vania Messenger

(By Associated Press)
CONSHOHOCKEN, Pa., June 1.—
Two sacks of mail, one containing $17,000 in cash, were stolen today
by five men dressed as laborers.
They were masked and carried pistols.

They held up a mail messenger and two other men, snatched the sacks from the Reading company station platform, where they had just been thrown from a train, and fled in an automobile.

One sack of registered mail held money sent from the Federal Reserve bank in Philadelphia to the First National bank of Conshohocken and was intended for the pay-rolls of seven factories. They money was in small bills.

The other sack, which had parcel post packages, was found about an hour later in a lane a mile from the Conshohocken station. It had been slit open and some of the contents removed.

Police were informed that Brown
stole the car of Wayman Werstler, Massillon, from its parking place at the Werstler residence. When Brown and the car were recovered by Patrolman J. L. Quay at 2:30
p. m. at the intersection of the Lima road and the first road north of the Marlboro highway, the gasoline tank was empty.

Discuss Proposed
New Sebring Plant

SEBRING, June 1.—Possibilities of the location here of a new industrial plant devoted to job work in dry enameling and the manufacture of ornamental iron works and building materials were being investigated today by Sebring business men following a mass meeting for consideration of the matter
at the high school auditorium.

G. E. Barnhart and F. E. Guy of New Brighton, Pa., operators of similar plant in that city, attended the meeting and submitted requests for a plant and working capital of $4,000. Frank LeFevre and Mahon Griffith were appointed by Sebring business men
to take charge of an investigation of the proposal.

Statement Is Seen As Prelude To Great
Britain's Note

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 1.—President Roosevelt, in a report to congress today on war debts, held out a promise for discussion of revision of present funding agreements to any European debtor nations who ask and present "special circumstances relating to means and methods of payment."

He indicated that "special circumstances" would be considered by emphasizing that factors would be whether the nations are utilizing their resources for "recovery purposes" or make a "reasonable payment" on the debt owed, or are spending for "unproductive nationalist" purposes.

In some official quarters, the President's statement concerning possible conferences was considered significant as a prelude to Great Britain's note on the debts question expected here any time.

Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador, is understood to have made overtures to the White House
for a discussion.

debts status, as to defaults, token payments and the like.

Law Laid to Man In Extortion Attempt

(By Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Frank E. Sutton, 46-year-old mining engineer, was under arrest here today on a federal grand jury indictment in connection with an alleged extortion plot directed against Fred
S. Markham, Altadena, Calif., financier.

The indictment, returned secretly
a week ago, charged violation of the Lindbergh kidnapping law, and was based on a letter delivered to Markham more than a year ago demanding $22,000 in cash on threat of injury to him or his family.
Markham is the son of a former Illinois Central railroad president.
Sutton was arrested last night,
but announcement of his arrest was withheld until early today.

Workers Committee Sees
"Bloody Warfare" In Strike Threat

CONFERENCE ONLY
HOPE, IS CLAIM

Group Will Ask President Monday To Call Meeting

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 1.—Intervention by President Roosevelt to avert threatened "bloody warfare" in a general strike in the nation's vast steel industry was in prospect today.

Members of the "rank and file"
committee of the steel workers' union quoted Senator Wagner, chairman of the national labor board, last night
as saying he would ask President Roosevelt, on the return of the chief executive Monday, to call a conference of steel magnates and union leaders to discuss the workers' demand for union recognition.

Sees Warfare
The committee, headed by Earl
J. Forbeck, president of the Mc-Keesport, Pa., district of the union, also said the threatened strike would mean "bloody warfare" and our people are ready if necessary to meet it." He said steel companies were equipping deputies with machine guns.

Asserting the conference between employers and union leaders held the only hope of solution, the committee said "250,000 steel workers are ready to strike to help the President get that conference."

Meanwhile, Michael P. Tighe, national president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, at odds with the Forbeck group because of previous statements issued by the latter, returned to Pittsburgh with other national officers of the union to await word from Hugh S. Johnson.

Want 30-Hour Week
Tighe and the recovery administrator discussed yesterday the union demand for reopening of the revised steel code to permit inclusion of additional labor provisions, but no conclusions were announced.
Establishment of a 30-hour week
in certain branches of the industry was one of the requested provisions, Tighe said.

In view of the frequently expressed policy of the steel companies to deal with their men only through company unions, many authorities considered it inevitable that President Roosevelt would be forced to step in if the threatened strike, tentatively set for June 16,
were to be averted.

NEW UNDERSTANDING

President Roosevelt's Memorial day address at Gettysburg was a stirring tribute to the ideal of national unity. No one comprehends more vividly than the chief executive the vital need for unity, nor the imperfection of unity in a country so far flung that its people are divided by barriers of nature and interest.

If President Roosevelt seemed to anticipate an ideal condition, he may be excused for letting the dream of a common purpose obscure the sometimes distressing reality of conflicting purposes. It is difficult to believe that "we are all brothers now in a new understanding." It is essential, however, to hope that we may become patient and interdependent members of such a brotherhood.

Probably there has been too little recognition given to the sectionalism of the United States. It is a fact that does not come openly from the mouths of politicians. They speak in stately phrases of the nation's interest, but too often act as though the nation's interest were represented by the desires of their constituents.

The farmer still thinks of the city dweller as an antagonist, to be watched suspiciously and dealt with sharply. The city dweller, encouraged by a political habit of making farm relief seem a tax on consumers, is convinced that his interests are in danger. The south is jealous of the north, and the west continues to regard the east as the national center of economic exploitation.

These are the facts. But a dream may be a fact also when it influences the thought and action of people. President Roosevelt dares to think of a more perfect condition in which all sections of the United States will be obscure parts of an united nation—as united in fact as it now is in political structure. By saying that we are moving closer to realization of the dream he may be able to hasten the coming of a condition that would lend new purpose and power to this government.

A VITAL MATTER

There is plenty to worry about in the news of the day. There are strikes and impending strikes. There is important legislation under consideration in Washington. There is the NRA and all its confusing ramifications.

If one has sufficient capacity for worrying, he can turn to Europe and Asia. Governments are in trouble. Wherever one looks he can find suggestions of war. Old orders are in bad repair and new ones are in bad repute.

Nevertheless, it is not merely playful exaggeration to guess that the most vital matter of all for millions is to be found in the sports section where a climactic struggle of another nature is being recorded. As this is written, the Cleveland Indians are leading the American league and the St. Louis Cardinals are on top in the National league.

New York, Detroit and Washington are pounding along hard on the heels of the Indians, threatening their unexpected position every time a ball is pitched. The American league is having a tight race for the first time in years. With the exception of Chicago every one of the eight teams still is in the running.

The National league, which has not been the victim of runaways in recent history, has five teams with better than 500 ratings. The champion New York Giants are having a battle to stay near the top, with St. Louis, Chicago and Pittsburgh all threatening to snatch the pennant this year.

History books will not record these events. Nevertheless, in any account of vital matters before the American people in the summer of 1934, they would have to be mentioned. A nation that flocks to baseball parks and worries almost as much about batting averages as industrial statistics doesn't seem to be in any immediate danger of letting political and economic troubles destroy its mental balance.

It's not so much uniform traffic regulations the country needs as uniform observance of common sense rules.

THE STARS SAY

For Saturday, June 2

An eventful, progressive and prosperous day is heralded by the planets both by lunar and mutual aspect. Success in employment, support and friendly recognition or honors from superiors and those of power and high standing. These may be approached with confidence of promotion, favors or financial increase. There may be something in the way of surprise attending this. Personal relations will also furnish their need of pleasure and progress. Be circumspect, however, in such affiliations.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a very happy, prosperous and progressive year, with employers and those in authority ready to recognize merit and outstanding talent in a substantial manner. Surprises in this relation are in store with new contracts as well as honors. Private affairs also thrive, affording much pleasure, but herein be discreet, as overindulgence may arise.

A child born on this day should have diversified talents, fitting it for important place in life, with success with superiors and those of power and prestige. It may have much social activity, especially in a romantic way.

Notable nativity: Pius X, Roman pontiff.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

PALM SPRINGS, June 1—This once parched, sirocco-blown strip of deep desert with a tiny scatter of jerry-built shacks is now a landscaped paradise, terrible with traffic, expressing a dash of the social eclat of Newport and Palm Beach. As the crow or whatever flies out here, it's 110 miles from Beverly. Popularity of this table of the sun has almost depopulated such beaches as Malibu. Palm Springs is "the place" of the moment hereabouts. Aside from its long-rooted hostility, The Desert Inn, it has the newer El Mirador. The latter for showy patrons, the former for sedate.

All vegetation save cacti has been transplanted. Each avenue regimented with palms in stately plume. Every other section of the area is owned by Caliente Indians in a tribal grant. There are only 35 left, squatting sullenly to watch the transformation with surprised grunts.

About them in mirage-like swirl is a vista of rue de la Paix shops, onyx facades of Eastern beauty parlors, jazz bands, radio and even the monoco. The civilization that drove them to tag ends of the earth still twines them in their final dandle. Lo, the poor Indian!

The season is about over. Only peons will be left to the blazing rays until summer wanes. While the sun scorches by day, it slips behind the surrounding mountains at 3:30 in the afternoon and the desert blows fragrantly cool, so chilly nights without blankets are freezing. In the heat, men wear only shorts and women's costumes are similarly abbreviated. They play tennis, badminton, swim in pools and go for early horseback rides, sending chuck wagons ahead with breakfast provender.

The gambling resort, 15 miles away, is The Dunes, a Monte Carlo amid the silver-scurry sands in trapping and high play. About the green-baize one sees among usual loss-pots illustrious of the Hollywood scene. Sandaled ladies in pajamas with toe-nails in bright hues. There is a $5-a-plate dinner to while tedium until gambling is under full steam. And then high-jinks until dawn tints the gray desert a morning pink.

Samuel Untermyer, New York lawyer, has the most magnificent estate here just as his Greystone is finest in Yonkers. Many movie big-uns are to have new castles next season. The town still talks of Jimmie Walker's visit when he sat on top of the world. And his cocky cane-swinging strut.

High salaried movie stars are now completely controlled by a new type of agent, called rather horribly "Flesh peddlers" and rising with a harsh timbre along out of the ashes of depression. They are in complete control of a star's business, managing investments, budgeting clients and attending to contracts. As a result of the tightening of purse strings, merchants are denied the windfalls that used to come with quick and easy money. Stars no longer buy 50 gowns at a crack or six autos in a row. The new rainy day manœuvres have, by percentage arrangement, created a fresh—fresh is the word—crop of nouveau riche—the agents themselves. Some make $20,000 a week.

Talkies have separated much chaff from the wheat. Today's star is far more articulate on and off. Much of their success now depends upon nicety of speech and ability intelligently to sustain conversation. The dumbbell is in total eclipse. Too, many luminaries grow social. One hears the Harold Loyds are leaders of a top-drawer set aiming at isolation and includes Leslie Howard, Diana Wynward, the Ralph Beliamys, the Charlie Farrells and so on.

In a restaurant I came upon buoyant Gracie Allen and her glum husband, George Burns. So vividly realistic is her art I always expect her in personal contact to flutter into those topsy-turvy tarradiddles that make conversation a goulash of goofiness. Instead, one finds a cool, competent Lady Vere de Vere, remarkably and intelligently poised. A lady who reads Santayana, Proust and is an authority on Bacon.

Many strange maladies which afflict the human mechanism create problems remaining unsolved. For example, exact knowledge regarding the thymus gland is still lacking. Scien-tists are daily engaged in experimentation and study which they hope will assist in the treatment and cure of disease of this delicate structure.

I venture to say that many of my readers are unfamiliar with this gland and perhaps never heard its name. The thymus gland and "Adam's apple" is believed to be temporary disappearing later. It weighs less than two ounces at birth and during the following five years gradually decreases in size so that eventually it weighs less than an ounce. In many cases it shrinks and disappears, though as a rule a small portion of it remains throughout life.

When Gland Is Enlarged
Unfortunately, the gland sometimes after its normal course and many grow so large as to be a serious menace of the life of the child. Enlargement of the thymus gland is sometimes seen in young children. This is associated with a condition called "status lymphaticus". Sometimes the gland may be five to ten times its normal size.

The young victim has difficulty in breathing. Such attacks come on after a shock, fall, blow or infection. In a child thus afflicted, a sudden blow may prove fatal. Many formerly unexplained deaths in young infants and children are now known to be due to enlargement of the thymus gland.

The true nature of the trouble can be definitely recognized by X-ray examination. By means of X-ray pictures it is possible to determine accurately whether or not the thymus gland is enlarged. This procedure is of great importance. Effort should be made to determine whether the thymus gland is enlarged in children who show suspected signs of status lymphaticus.

Danger of Shock
If the X-ray reveals enlargement of the gland adequate measures should be taken to protect the young sufferer from minor injuries, accidents and shocks. Operations such as removal of enlarged tonsils and adenoids, should not be performed upon a child suffering from thymus enlargement.

In recent years, beneficial results have been obtained by special X-ray treatments of enlarged thymus gland. Since the gland ultimately shrinks, the danger only exists while the sufferer is between the ages of one and five years. During this period and until the gland grows smaller, the child should receive special care and nursing.

As our knowledge of the thymus gland increases, it is probable that other mysteries of the human body will be solved and many fatalities prevented. It is equally possible that this puzzling gland may hold the secret of other baffling ailments which are perplexing the ever-working and untiring scientists.

Answers to Health Queries
The Claeys Family, Q.—My mother had an attack of gall stones and the doctor advised an operation, but we can't afford it. Some friends told us if we gave mother olive oil after every meal it would help to pass these stones. What would you advise?

A—It is always unwise to listen to the well-meant advice of friends. Follow your doctor's instructions. I would suggest that you take your mother to the clinic in one of the larger hospital near your home.

MARION—On the heels of the formation of a county-wide organization to promote the 4-H club movement in Marion county, 31 community project leaders have been named and have buckled down to work under the direction of S. MAHANOEY CITY, Pa.—Art Del-paz, of the city, recently received a package which he had mailed to his family 16 years ago while he was a member of the Army of Occupation in Germany. No explanation of the delay was offered by post office officials.

DISLIKE to interfere any more with a patriotic celebration is necessary to remember that those ninety-nine ships represent one easy target for the ex-cesses and gas bombs of an air fleet.

AMERICAN planes are in the air, less than one-tenth of the fleet in number, could, with the help of the navy, have sent the floating targets to the bottom.

HOPE KNOWS how little ships will amount to in the air war.

O.S.U. TO AWARD DEGREES JUNE 11

School Superintendent, Railroad Official To Be Honored

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, O., June 1.—A Cleveland school superintendent and a Chicago railroad official will be honored with Ohio State university degrees at annual commencement exercises June 11.

President George W. Rightmire announced the degree of doctor of laws will be conferred on Charles H. Lake, Cleveland educator, and the degree of doctor of engineering upon Daniel J. Brumley, chief engineer of the Illinois Central's Chicago terminal improvement and former president of the Ohio State university association.

Three Others Honored.
The degrees will bring to five the honorary awards made by the university this year. Three honorary doctorates were conferred March 2 when the college of medicine celebrated its centennial. They went to Dr. Henry S. Houghton, Chicago; Dr. Torald H. Sollmann, Cleveland; and Dr. William S. McCann, Rochester, N. Y.

Lake, a native of Granville, Licking county, received his bachelor of arts degree from Ohio State in 1909 and the master's a year later. He has taught school or has been an official in Granville, Columbus, and Alexandria. He became assistant superintendent at Cleveland in 1919, and superintendent a year ago.

Born On Farm.
An author on educational subjects, he also is a member of the executive committee of the Ohio Educational association and of other educational and fraternal groups.

Brumley was born on a farm in Putnam county. For many years he taught county schools near his home to secure funds so he could attend Ohio State where he took his civil engineering degree in 1895.

He began his railroad career with the Louisville-Nashville as an assistant section foreman. He served as president of the American Railway Engineering association, as mayor and school board president in the Chicago suburb where he lives, president of the Western Society of Engineers, president of the Chicago Engineers' club and as chairman of Chicago's work relief committee.

Dresses Are Made In Sebring Plant

An invitation was extended today to the public by Miss Doris Pidgeon of Sebring, the manager, for an inspection of the new Elfin-Alden dress shoppe which was opened recently at 274 East State st.

Dresses on display at the shoppe are designed and made by Miss Pidgeon's sister, Mrs. Raymond Green, well known here, at a plant operated by the latter in Sebring.

and organdies for formal wear made to measure of non-fade materials are included in the stock.

Starting on a small scale at her own home last summer, Mrs. Green later was forced to expand her dress-making operations until recently she opened a plant at Sebring. The Salem store is the first opened by Mrs. Green and is the outgrowth of an experimental plan being tried by the sisters to further increase their operations.

The store is located in the quarters formerly occupied by the Kesselmire jewelry store.

Today's Pattern

MAKE THIS FROCK IN COTTON—YOU'LL LOVE IT

Pattern 1666

Of course you can make it of any thing you like, but there is something about this frock that just pleads to be made up in one of the new cottons. So why not do it?

You will simply love it—you can't help it. Those little shoulder capes will fall so prettily and the yoke will look so smart and the general effect will be one of that trim well-groomed chic which always accompanies cotton properly used. As for cotton's position in fashions—it's on the crest of the wave—the chic Parisians who make and unmake the mode are ordering dozens of cotton frocks for next summer.

Pattern 1666 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 3 yards 53 inch fabric and 3/4 yard contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

The smartest warm weather fashions, the newest fabrics, and the summer season's outstanding accessories are illustrated and described in the new Anne Adams pattern book for summer. Order your copy of this helpful new summer book.

The dinner at 6 will be at the Masonic temple, East State st.

The dance will be at the High school gym and the program will be played by Ed McGraw's orchestra of East Liverpool.

LOAN INTEREST RATE REDUCED

Warren Association Is Notified By Farm Credit Head

Hal W. Clarke, secretary-treasurer of the Warren Production Credit association, has just received word from Governor W. I. Myers of the Farm Credit administration in Washington, D. C. that the interest rate on new loans from production credit associations has been reduced from 5% to 3 per cent.

According to Clarke, the new 3 per cent interest rate becomes effective immediately on all new loans and advances made by the association and will be applicable until further notice.

"The new interest rate of 3 per cent will not affect loans already advanced in full," Clarke said.

"These will continue to bear the rate of interest prevailing at the time the loan was closed. The interest charges on loans from the association are collected when the loans mature. The Warren Production Credit association is now making loans on acceptable crop and chattel security to farmers in Lake, Geauga, Ashland, Stark, Columbiana, Portage, Trumbull and Mahoning counties.

"The reduction of the interest to 3 per cent on new loans," Clarke explained, "is made possible by a recent sale of Federal Intermediate Credit bank debentures to investors at an unusually low rate of interest. The association gets money to lend farmers from the Federal Intermediate Credit bank of Louisville, Ky."

"The lowering of the interest rate on new loans to 3 per cent is the second reduction in two months; the rate having been reduced from 6 to 5% per cent on March 16."

Crowning a Queen

A garland of flowers was the crown used in the coronation of Miss Phyllis Atkinson as Queen of the annual festival at Lasell Junior College, Auburndale, Mass. Kathleen Atkin, class president, is officiating at the pretty ceremony.

CHICAGO — Police found Alvin Karpis, 61, a nude hermit, living in Frank Planigan's chicken coop. They attempted to take him to a hospital, but both Planigan and Karpis objected. Karpis said he had been living in the coop for 12 years.

DRIEST MAY IN YEARS PASSES

County, State Weather Observers Say Condition Unprecedented

drought's effects are also being felt. Lawns are drying up in many cases while the lack of rainfall is having a serious effect on home garden plots. Crops in these gardens, Copeland said, will be considerably late in maturing for they are affected just as much as those in rural areas except that urban gardeners have the advantage of sprinkling systems and garden hose.

At Springfield city officials warned residents to conserve the water supply. For three weeks farmers have been hauling water for livestock in the Sandusky area.

In some parts of the state, wheat and oats fields are being abandoned, said W. H. Alexander, Columbus weatherman.

Columbus had only six-tenths of an inch of rainfall in the whole month of May, bringing the deficiency for the year to date to 9.31 inches.

At Cleveland, the weather bureau reported the driest May in its history, total precipitation being .58 inch.

95 at Findlay
While the grain belt sweated under temperatures well over the 100 mark and commodity markets were witnessing price advances, Ohio hot spot was reported at Findlay, where the official temperature yesterday reached 95.

The mercury reached 92 yesterday in Columbus, for the May 31 since 1895. Cincinnati had a high of 92, and Dayton was only one point under a set May 21.

A noon-time temperature was recorded at Zanesville yesterday Springfield's high was 89 and Lake Erie the marks were a lower, 78 at Sandusky and at Cleveland.

Claudette Colbert, Clark Gable Teamed In "It Happened One Night"

TWO of Hollywood's most popular stars are teamed for the first time in "It Happened One Night", the film at the State this evening and Saturday. From the popularity of the production it seems as though Claudette Colbert and Clark Gable are destined to be filmed together again perhaps with the same director, Frank Capra, who was recently given the award for the year's best director.

Good Story

"It Happened One Night" from the story by Samuel Hopkins Adams, has won popular acclaim wherever it has played. With the stars as Walter Connolly who still is remembered as Janet Gaynor's father in "Patty The Next Best Thing", Roscoe Karns, Jameson Thomas and Alan Hale. It's a picture that has few serious moments—it is gay, sparkling, romantic and always realistic. And it gives its co-stars the finest roles they have had in many a day.

Miss Colbert is cast as the daughter of Connolly, millionaire. Disapproving of her marriage to Thomas, playboy of her own set, her father has her kidnapped.

From the yacht where she is to be kept by her would-be kidnappers, the imperious Claudette swims ashore and hastens to New York to join her husband. She is traveling incognito, by bus to avoid her father's sleuths. Gable, an adventurous but poor newspaperman, is also enroute to New York by bus. Whereupon the two who occupy adjoining seats strike up a conversation. But Gable, seeing through her disguise, picks at her continually about the idle rich. Claudette is peeved and considers him ill-mannered.

Stars Are Excellent

Complications arise when her father offers a $10,000 award for his daughter's return. Gable constitutes himself as a knight-errant and, amused by the girl's helplessness, takes her under his protection. He scores off would-be discoverers by assuming a domestic relationship with his bewildered charge every time one of them happens along. Before the two vagabonds finally arrive in New York—and separate at that—they have tramped, hiked and practiced every art of hitch-hiking; have staged a domestic squabble for the edification and confusion of curious detectives; and have experienced amusing adventures that make the petulant Miss Colbert loath to return to her riches.

As the high-spirited young heir

Clark Gable

ess Miss Colbert has never done better work and Gable, as the rough, but kindly knight, has a role perfectly suited to him.

Hollywood Mourns Death of Lew Cody

(By Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD, June 1.—Beneath its grease paint, laughter, mock drama and tragedy, Hollywood silently grieved today at the passing of Lew Cody, 47, its favorite master of ceremonies, man-about-town and bon vivant.

Not since the death of his laughter-loving wife, Mabel Norman, has Hollywood felt so keenly the passing of an individual.

To producer and stage alike Cody was known as "Lew." His friends in the film colony were legion. His home was always open house. He was noted for his financial philanthropies.

Death, unlike the life he led, came quietly in his sleep. He was found dead in bed yesterday afternoon in his Beverly Hills home, apparently from a heart attack.

Dr. R. B. Griffith, Cody's physician, said he had been treating the actor for several months.

THE HOME KITCHEN

NEW TASTY EGG DISHES
There have been experimenting with new and tasty egg dishes. There are three children to be fed and it is found that a main dish with eggs is light enough to be easily digested and yet it will give the youngsters almost anything they desire. All the eggs given here today have been fresh. We hope that you will use them soon or file them away for use.

Prune Souffle
This souffle is an ideal sweet for a child who is off its feed. It is difficult to feed. Soak prunes in cold water and then remove the stones. Cut the prunes into quarters. Add a half cup of powdered sugar and a half cup of butter. Beat three eggs, and fold into the mixture. Pour into a prepared souffle case or tin and bake in a water bath. Blend one teaspoon of lemon juice and add one tablespoon of sugar. Stir constantly over a low fire until the juice gets thick and add a few drops of vanilla essence.

Variation of Pastry Omelet
This is a delightful variation of the ordinary omelet. Beat up an egg for an omelet, season with salt and pepper. Add a little chopped parsley and a few grains of puffed rice.

Prune Delight
Prune delight is made with half pound of prunes which should be washed, soaked and stewed with lemon juice. When tender rub prunes through a sieve. Make a sponge pudding with the weight of two eggs in sugar, butter and self-raising flour, using the egg yolks only. Bake in a greased fireproof dish and when cooked heap the prune puree on top and cover with a meringue made from the egg whites and a little sugar. Return to oven to get very hot and for the meringue to brown slightly.

Prune Delight
This is a delightful sweet that should please the most discriminating palate. Boil and mash some prunes and pass through a sieve. Mix with lemon-flavored gelatin. Take sufficient almonds, blanch and pound with a pestle and mortar till they are a cream, then mix separately with the jelly mixture, fill half way with the cream of almonds and the rest with the prunes.

STOCKHOLM — Three brothers by the name of Hesselman now are members of the Swedish Academy of Sciences which yearly awards Nobel prizes in physics and chemistry. The oldest, Henrik is Sweden's leading expert in forestry and as such is well known in the United States. The next, Bengt, is a professor of languages, and the third, Jonas, is an engineer and inventor of a motor which burns crude oil.

Pour in saucer and put in oven for a minute or two, till set. Stuffed potatoes is a particularly nice luncheon dish. To make it bake some fairly large potatoes until soft. Then cut off a small piece from the top, scoop out the inside and wash with salt and pepper, a little butter and a beaten egg for each potato. Refill the shells and return to the oven to heat thoroughly.

NEW IDEAS IN PRUNE DISHES
PRUNES ARE exceedingly healthy and all sorts of delicious dishes can be made with them, although prune whip and prune pie are the only two dishes usually served. Prune pie not as frequently as it should be.

"Marrying Mdivanis" and Trail of Princesses

The rift in the marital life of Prince Alexis Mdivani and his Princess, the former Barbara Hutton, $20,000,000 Woolworth heiress, recalls the chain of events that led to the three Georgian brothers being dubbed the "Marrying Mdivanis." Prince David, first of the trio to invade the U. S., married Mae Murray, then at the peak of film fame. Inspired by Dave's success, brother Serge wed Pola Negri, another film luminary. But when depression dawned, the Princes were returned to circulation, via divorce as too luxurious for hard times. However, Prince Serge had a brief marital fling with Mary McCormic, opera diva, before she, too, decided a prince was not essential to life. Prince Alexis formerly was husband of Louise Astor van Alen, of New York and Newport. When she divorced him he chased Barbara Hutton around the world until she married him in Paris last year.

Neckties Of White Stylish
With the vogue for white, neckties of ivory beads are again very much in demand. Ivory is extremely beautiful and is becoming almost every type of skin, but it soon loses its whiteness and begins to look dirty and discolored, and needs plenty of attention if it is to look immaculate.

The real elephant ivory is permeated with an immense number of exceedingly fine tubes starting from the pulp cavity and radiating in all directions. The tubes are filled with a kind of oily substance which evaporates with age, and while the empty tubes shrink, they do not entirely close. Hence ivory beads by reason of this peculiar construction, will absorb grease and perspiration from the skin.

The same is true of walrus and bone, which are so often sold as ivory, although these are less fibrous of structure than the real ivory, and with larger tubes. Ivory is truly beautiful and so it is worth while washing it and giving it a freshening up treatment often.

To Clean Ivory Beads

Wash in several solutions of pure, flaked soap and warm water. Only many changes of water will remove all the grease and perspiration that has been absorbed by the ivory. After the beads have been thoroughly washed, they should be just as carefully dried. When really dry, shake a few drops of the best olive oil in the palm of the hand, and roll it on the beads. Then rub them on a soft cloth. If the color of the ivory is bad, hang the beads in the sun, under glass, if possible, every now and again wiping them with a damp flannel cloth, so that they are kept damp and never allowed to really dry in the sun.

Other pieces of ivory may be treated in the same manner but care should be taken that fine and delicate carving is in no way injured. When washing the bead necklaces, they should be unthreaded first and the thread itself should be well wiped, as grime and dirt collect there, too. The large holes in the beads make it an easy task to re-thread. Arrange the beads in graduated sizes before starting the threading operation.

NOW EATS ANY KIND OF FOOD, AND NO CONSTIPATION

Mr. Durigan Finds Relief in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Here is his enthusiastic letter:
"Am 70 years of age, and for 40 of these years there never was a week but what I had to take a pill or some kind of cathartic."

"I took everything, but gained only temporary relief. Until last spring my daughter, who is a nurse in a hospital, brought me some Kellogg's ALL-BRAN."

"At the end of the week, I knew I had something that was it, and I kept on taking it. I haven't taken a cathartic since. I can eat meat any time, as often as I like, or any other kind of food, and no constipation." Mr. L. M. Durigan, 6811 Buffalo Ave., Jacksonville, Florida.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help muscle tone. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much safer than patent medicines. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Today's Pattern

THIS SHOULD BE LOVELY IN A SHEER FABRIC
Pattern 1815

When it comes to chiffons and sheer materials of that kind you have to give very careful thought to your model—it can't be made. And yet we don't want to do much floating in the air—days—at least those needed for the daytime. That is the reason this is such a good one, for thin materials—it has nothing to it but not too much resistance, the collar coming over shoulders like that is very becoming in a transparent texture. Bodice, too, is soft and flat—above the twice-pointed collar—and the skirt has just half ruffles.

Pattern 1815 is available in sizes 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, 52, 54, 56, 58, 60, 62, 64, 66, 68, 70, 72, 74, 76, 78, 80, 82, 84, 86, 88, 90, 92, 94, 96, 98, "MA CINDERELLA"

by Harold Bell Wright

SYNOPSIS

Ann Haskel, taciturn, independent mountaineer, rules the little village of Pine Knob, in the Ozarks, with an iron hand. Though generally considered hard and unbending, Ann could also be extremely generous. A hard-working farmer herself, Ann disapproves of the useless life led by the wealthy vacationists at the Lodge. Among these, however, is one exception—Diane Carrol, lovely young artist, whose work means more to her than her wealth, yet Ann considers Diane's painting a waste of time. The latter, however, greatly admires the mountain woman who sacrificed her own happiness for her son's future. Years before, following the death of her first husband, Ann had placed her boy, John Herbert, in the care of an old friend, Judge Shannon, so that he might be educated properly. She has not seen John Herbert since. In his place, she raised a ne'er-do-well step son, Jeff Todd. Then, one day, John Herbert unexpectedly returns. Diane happens to be at the station when he arrives and offers the stranger a lift. They are trapped in the woods by heavy rains. John Herbert confides in Diane that, although he studied law, his heart is in writing and he hopes his mother will not be disappointed. Thrown together as they are, a comradeship is formed such as Diane had never before experienced. Next morning, Ann comes to the rescue. As she approaches, John Herbert exclaims: "It's a woman! Look! She's wearing a man's coat and hat. How funny!" He is stunned when Diane introduces Ann as his mother. The latter, hiding her emotions, coldly says: "I loved you war Herb when I first fetched sight of you. Months later, Nance Jordan, Ann's housekeeper, is fondly arranging John Herbert's desk when she catches Jeff sneaking into his room with a jug of liquor. Warned against Ann's wrath, Jeff retorts he isn't afraid of anybody and invites Nance to have a drink.

CHAPTER XVI

"I don't want no drink."

"No? Not even a teeny weeny nip?"

"No."

"Huh! You couldn't find no better lick'n this year if you was to hunt all over this country. I'm a-tellin' you they jest natchally don't make no better cawn lick'n nowhar in these year Ozark hills. Don't I know? Ain't Jeff Todd a jedge of good lick'n? I'd sure admire to know if he ain't—I'd sure admire to know."

"My Gawd-a-mighty! Jeff Todd, ain't you got no sense—a-takin' so loud? Mebbe thar ain't no reuveners 'round, but"—she looked toward the book-corner as if such talk were not only dangerous, but sacrilegious as well—"but what if Herb war to hear you? Ann Haskel'll jest natchally kill you an' me both if John Herbert war to find out 'bout the still. Please do be keeful—won't you, Jeff? Hit ain't safe."

But Nance's reference to Ann Haskel's son served only to awaken the man's evil temper. "I reckon how I'll talk if I want to," he retorted, sullenly. "My mouth's my own, ain't hit? This year lick'n's mine, too. I aim to do what I want with what's mine." He raised the jug defiantly.

"Tain't neither your lick'n, Jeff Todd," Nance retorted, unmindful of the fellow's dangerous mood. "You know good an' well hit ain't. Jest 'cause Ann Haskel done married your paw an' raised you up don't make nothin' yourn. I'd sure like to know what you'd be if hit warnt for Ann a-takin' keer of you an' a-tellin' you what to do an' how to do hit, an' a-managin' everythin' for you an' the rest of we-uns like she does. You jest wouldn't be nowhar, that's what you'd be. You should take shame to yourself, Jeff Todd, allus a-bittin' the hand what feeds you."

The man's eyes narrowed wickedly. "You'd best shut your mouth, Nance Jordan. I'm a-tellin' you, you don't dast to tech me, Jeff Todd," shrilled Nance. "You lay your hand on me an' Ann Haskel—"

"Shut up, I tell you," the other snarled, with a threatening step toward her.

Nance drew back fearfully.

"You ain't so mighty much that you can belittle me," he continued, with a malevolent leer. "Everybody knows you ain't never been nothin' but Ann Haskel's slave. Hit's jest like she owned you, same as folks used to own niggers. You act an' talk like Ann war Gawd-a-mighty. Wal, she ain't."

"Ann she's sure been mighty good to me, Jeff," whispered Nance. "She's been good to you, too, a-raisin' you up like you war her own son. A body'd think—"

"Shut up! Ever since that boy of hers come home I been a-foxin' to say my say. He's that high-headed a body'd think I war dirt under his feet. Whard' Ann Haskel git this place? Hit war my pappy's place when she married him, warn't hit? If pappy hadn't a gone an' got himself shot to death by them damned reuveners, wouldn't nothin' be here? She ain't never keered nothin' 'bout pappy bein' daid. She ain't never keered nothin' 'bout me. All she's ever wanted war what she could git out of we-uns for that dad-burned boy of hers—the white-faced, yellow livered pup!"

"Now, Jeff, you ain't goin' to fault Herb. I jest won't hear you," a-raisin' you up like you war her own son. A body'd think—"

"Shut up! I'm a-talkin' this mornin', you listen. Who's worked this place for Ann Haskel? I have, that's who. Whard' she git all the money to keep her own boy in school ever since he war knee high to a duck? I made hit for her an' you know hit good an' well. She ain't never done nothin' but boss things an' take the money. An' hyeah lately since he's come home from gittin' all educated an' everything, hit's worse than ever for me. Calls hers' Haskel, jest as if marryin' pappy don't count! What if she war a Haskel? Name of Todd's good 'nough fer her or anybody else on Gawd-a-mighty's 'arth. I'm a Todd, I am, an' the Todds ain't never trucked to no Haskel, never—ner to nobody else."

Nance spoke soothingly: "Ann done tol' me how she keeps the name 'count of Herb bein' a Haskel. She ain't never had no children with nary other of them men she war married to, an' John Herbert's the last of the Haskels."

"Yeah—wal, the Haskel tribe sure come to a mighty little end in him. He ain't no part of a man. Why don't Ann make him work same's she does we-uns?"

"He does work."

"Work, heck! He ain't never done a lick since the day he war borned. He's been home high on a month now an' ain't lifted a hand—jest sets 'round with a book when he ain't a-playin' with them folks at the Lodge or lollygagin' with that thar artist gal, Diane Carrol."

"Herb ain't like we-uns, Jeff. Herb's got l'arnin'. He works at studyin' an' writin' an'—an'—sich."

"Yeah. I done hyeah'd 'bout book feller's like him. I'd sure admire to see some of his writin'."

"You wouldn't know what they war all about if you war to see 'em. Herb's writin' ain't for sich as we-uns; they're poetry-writin'."

There was a silence for a little while while Jeff nursed his grievances.

Reprieved Leviathan Prepares for Comeback

Farmarked for the scrap-heap a year ago, the palatial Leviathan, which played a prominent part in the World War as a troop transport, gets a new lease on life as she arrives at Boston for overhauling before being returned to the trans-Atlantic passenger trade between New York and Europe. She will sail on her first trip June 9.

with the poor earthbound creatures of her most material world. With this there was a look of dumb, dog-like devotion which lighted her faded eyes and illumined her dull features with a strange and unexpected beauty. The one, in his malevolence, sacrificed himself, as it were, upon the altar of his own ill-will, and by the spirit of his ignorance was pitifully tormented. The other, in her reverence for all that the object of her veneration represented to her illiterate mind, was, by the spirit of her ignorance, glorified.

Jeff muttered an oath and a vile term of contempt.

Nance slouched across the room to the book-corner where John Herbert was still engrossed with tablet and pencil.

The young man looked up and greeted her with the smile and kindly word he would have bestowed upon a friendly dog. "Hello, Nance."

The woman's voice was low and gentle. "Hello!"

He gave his attention to whatever it was that so interested him. She stood there, tall, ungainly, gazing down at him, waiting.

Again he looked up, smiled, and looked down at his paper.

Silently the backwoods woman took his hat from the table and hung it carefully on a wooden peg in the log wall. Returning, she stood as before, waiting. When he did not look up or speak she said, timidly: "Seems like hit's a right smart hotter'n like hit war yest'-day."

He did not appear to have heard. "Wouldn't you like fer me to fetch you a nice cool drink—water, I mean. I'll git hit fresh from the spring. Can I?"

"Thank you, Nance—not now."

"Have you tick notice of the posies I done fixed fer you? They ain't much, but I loved you'd like 'em. Posies allus sort of pretty-up a place, seems like to me."

He looked kindly at the scraggly flowers in the brown jar. They are beautiful, Nance. So thoughtful of you. I'm fond of flowers."

"Your maw she's gone to the Lodge with aigs."

"Yeah? She'll be back d'rectly. Them Lodge folks sure do eat a heap of aigs—'bout all our hens can make out to lay."

Jeff broke in with a jeering laugh. "Aigs, heck! The kind of aigs Ann Haskel sells to them Lodge folks ain't laid by no hens."

The woman whirled on him and her voice shrilled with menacing fury. "You'd best be keeful, Jeff Todd. Take your jug an' git out of hyeah 'fo' your mouth gits you a mess of trouble you can't git shet of."

John Herbert attached so little importance to this exchange of pleasantries that he merely glanced toward Jeff and went on with his writing.

SEA ISLE CITY, N. J.—Residents of this village recently were flabbergasted when thousands of potato bugs came rolling in on the breakers, covering the shore for about a mile. It was believed the bugs "floundered" after flying out over the ocean from either the Delaware, or the Maryland coasts.

NEWS IN BRIEF

MONTREAL—The landing of Gen. Italo Balbo's Italian armada of airplanes at Cartwright Inlet in Labrador last summer after their trans-Atlantic flight, is to be commemorated shortly by the erection of a Roman column there according to Sir Wilfred Grenfell, who has been in communication with Premier Mussolini on the subject.

PHILADELPHIA—A toe dancing deer, the first of its kind to be brought to the United States, was a recent addition to the Philadelphia Zoological Gardens. The animal is about a foot tall and walks on its toes. It is an extremely proficient jumper.

CLEVELAND—First ordinance on speed passed by city council here forbade a rate exceeding seven miles an hour, according to musty files of the municipal body. The same ordinance provided "No driver of any omnibus shall pass, or attempt to pass any other omnibus, while the same is moving at the rate of more than four miles per hour."

Camera Catches Jewels of Night At World's Fair

Chicago's World's Fair—an enchantress in an evening gown of sables embroidered with living jewels. The scene is to the south from a tower of the sky ride. Countless millions of candle-power wrought this wonder. Fewer years ago than the hundred to which this fair is dedicated, man had no electric light and could not have produced such a spectacle. One of the great steps in the century of progress was electric lighting, and it is fitting that achievement should be used to give A Century of Progress its greatest glory, its night-time splendor.

A group of additional new models for the 1934 Chevrolet line — four full-size cars — 100% Chevrolet in quality and reliability

Right at the peak of Chevrolet popularity—with nationwide demand sending production to new all-time "highs"—Chevrolet dealers are displaying an additional group of four new models. These cars are identical in quality with all 1934 Chevrolets. And the prices have been set at such incredibly low figures that you can now buy a Chevrolet for $490! "A Chevrolet for $490!" That's the world's lowest price for a six-cylinder car. The lowest price, also, for a car of this size, wheelbase and power! And a figure that sounds even more impressive after you find out what it buys: A great big, full-size, long-wheelbase car, 169 inches from bumper to bumper. A cushion-balanced SIX of surprising smoothness, power, snap and dash. The most economical full-size car that money can buy—a record-breaker for gas and oil mileage, as well as long, dependable service. And every closed model has a Body by Fisher. Nobody interested in motor cars can afford to let another day slip by, without seeing this "Chevrolet for $490."

RELENTLESS EYESTRAIN

If an eye examination and glasses are needed, nothing under God's heavens will take their place.

To be sure, much experience and skill must enter into the examination in order to get the maximum benefit that is to be derived from wearing glasses. Don't wear just "spex." Wear an ophthalmic correction.
